

PRESS RELEASE

Rotkreuz, 17 August 2018

Patrick Marti to step down as Managing Director of Mobility at the end of the year

Managing Director Patrick Marti (37) is to leave the Mobility Cooperative at the end of 2018. The Board of Directors has begun looking for his successor.

Patrick Marti has spent the past two years making Mobility fit for the mobility of the future. With him at the helm, the mobility service provider has launched a wide range of services and projects, including the "Mobility Carpool" ride-sharing platform, the "Mobility Scooter" electric scooters, and a pilot project involving self-driving shuttles in the town of Zug.

2019 will find the 37-year-old focusing on a development opportunity in the retail sector, where he has spent most of his career. Frank Boller, chairman of Mobility's board of directors, comments: "We very much regret Patrick Marti's decision. Under his leadership, key moves were made to transition the company from a car sharing service to a mobility provider. We thank Patrick Marti for his outstanding contribution and wish him every success going forward." The board of directors will be carefully considering the question of his successor over the coming months.
